Since the government put anaerobic digestion and biogas top of the environmental agenda, a massive turnout is expected for the UK's first ever trade show on 7-8 July in the NEC, Birmingham, hosted by the Anaerobic Digestion and Biogas Association (ADBA).

UK AD & Biogas 2010 focuses exclusively on the anaerobic digestion and biogas industries. Following on from the success of ADBA's National Conference in December 2009 the UK AD & Biogas 2010, which includes a comprehensive two day conference, free workshops and seminars, will bring together leading industry professionals across all sectors of the anaerobic digestion and biogas industries to share best practice, expertise and solutions and to debate key issues.
